Artform	Live Music / Immersive Experience
Running Time	60-120 minutes (adaptable format)
Audience Recommendation	Lovers of live music, those interested in wellness/meditation/yoga/stress relief experiences. Although it should be noted that many of our audiences are completely new to breathwork and meditation, and no prior experience is needed.
Show Focus	Live, original music Instruments including operatic vocals, percussion, synths, bass, singing bowls, rain stick and handpan are used to perform atmospheric, emotionally charged compositions. Musicians move around the audience while playing, creating an immersive, multi-sensory experience.

Breathwork / Embodied Meditation

An accredited breathwork practitioner guides audience members through a breathwork journey, inviting deep relaxation, emotional release and embodied awareness. This heightens the musical experience, allowing audiences to feel sound as vibration moving through the body, and be emotionally open to the lyrics and themes of the compositions.

Shared, Relaxed Experience

Resonance offers a different way to experience live music. Audience members are invited to wear comfortable clothing and bring anything that supports relaxation - pillows, blankets, eye masks. They enter a calm, low lit environment and experience the performance lying on the floor on a mat with their eyes closed. This setting softens the usual social pressure of traditional live music spaces, creating the ease of a yoga studio while retaining the excitement of a live performance. Resonance is both deeply personal and inherently communal. Each audience member has their own internal experience, while contributing to a shared atmosphere. When we connect with audiences after the show, it doesn't feel like we're meeting them for the first time - it feels as though we've all experienced something together.
